HEALTH CARE

Med franchise in three cities

Express Medical Transporters, a non-emergency medical transportation franchise, recently opened operations in Mobile, after July starts in Birmingham and Montgomery. EMT, based in Missouri, was one of the first non-emergency transporters in the country and was the first national franchise provider of non-emergency transportation services. About 90 to 95 percent of EMT's revenue is generated from contracted business with government entities, schools, transportation brokers and others.
